Hello,

I'm writing as a concerned citizen. I live in the St John's neighborhood and take my young son to play at Cathedral Park regularly. However, I do not let him play on the beach. A child should be able to enjoy nature without fear of toxins that could impact their and their playmates' health for years to come.

For this reason, I am writing to encourage you to not lower the levels that BaP is considered toxic. I expect the clean up of the Superfund site to make the river safe for my family, and all people who care about the Willamette River.

Toxins should be cleaned to the same level as the rest of the river along urban sections.

Concerned citizens like me are observing the steps you take, and expect responsible, conscientious action. Our children need a world that is safe for their play.

Thank you for your consideration,
